Workshop description: Participants will be exposed to and practice the techniques used in watercolor painting to confidently work on a small simple painting by the second day of the workshop. Individual help will be given to all. Since this is NOT a drawing class, fear of not being able to draw a straight line should not be a deterrent. We will not take a specific lunch break so workshop members can have their lunch whenever they feel the need.

Paula's classes are well structured and organized. She gives her students her all so join her in satisfying your desire to become a watercolor artist! Please note: if you have previously painted in acrylics or oils, leave that knowledge behind and come learn all about this exciting new medium.
